

YANKS BATTLE ENEMY IN WRECKED AACHEN

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

FEW BATTLES for cities in this war have so intrigued the people of the western Allies as that over ancient Aachen, probably because they hope that from it they can learn the strength of Germany's determination and the extent of her ability to make a final fight.

It's likely that this grim battle will indeed give us a fairly accurate answer to the problem—military and psychological. Already it is clear that Hitler intends to make this a test case, as witness the manner in which he has flung crack armored troops into the conflict at the approaches to the old town. Thus we have further confirmation that he is determined to hang on to the death, and still is capable of causing us plenty of trouble.

On the other side of the Nazi ledger is proof that not all German soldiers or civilians are willing to die for him. His officers in Aachen have been shooting both civilians and soldiers who tried to surrender. However, that's not conclusive, and further evidence is needed to enable us to gauge the dictator's control over his people.

Berlin brags that the Nazi commander who rejected the American ultimatum to surrender replied: "Even an American cannot ask a city like Aachen, where 37 German emperors were crowned, to surrender." Passing by the thought that we not only can but did demand surrender, we find much food for thought in this line.

The Hitlerite commander would have been correct if he had said: "Germany cannot afford to surrender a famous old city like Aachen—the first important city to be attacked by land forces in the fatherland proper since the days of Napoleon." The loss of Aachen will be a tremendous shock to German morale—so great that Hitler dare not risk it if he possibly can hang on. If by hook or by crook he could build out of it an epic of German resistance, it would strengthen morale.

By the same token, the Allies need Aachen for the psychological effect on the Germans. But that's only half the story. Militarily this city is of great importance to both sides. For the Allies it's the gateway in the corridor leading from Belgium into Germany—a vital railway and highway center. For the

FALL OF RIGA PAVES WAY TO EAST PRUSSIA

Virtually All Nazi Invaders Are Chased From Russian Soil

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Oct. 14.—Fall of Riga, Latvian capital and last Baltic city that remained to the Germans, released two powerful Russian armies today for a thrust southward toward East Prussia.

On the Red army's southern flank, silence cloaked decisive operations in Hungary.

The Soviet drive in Hungary now be compared to operations last year in Italy during which Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British Eighth army marched up the Italian peninsula for six days after crossing the Messina strait.

It is recalled that the British landed on the mainland at dawn Sept. 3, 1943—the same day that Marshal Pietro Badoglio's emissaries signed an armistice. Until evening of Sept. 8 British troops officially regarded the Italians as enemy belligerents, but day after day were amazed by large-scale desertions and even active help.

Badoglio's staff officers claimed later that if the Allies had taken them into their confidence and had disclosed the time of the armistice announcement well in advance instead of the night of Sept. 7, a co-ordinated trap could have been sprung against the Germans.

New Attacks Imminent.

Capture of the Baltic port was announced last night by Marshal Stalin. A city of 385,000, it fell to the troops of Gen. Andrei Yeremenko's Second Baltic army and those of Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic army.

Several distinguished visitors to Moscow heard the victory salute of 24 salutes from 324 of the capital's guns—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain, Field Marshal Sir Alan Francis Brooke, chief of the British Imperial staff, and Polish Prime Minister Stanislaw Mikolajczyk.

Although the Russian communiqué said nothing of a direct attack on German soil in East Prussia, Berlin reported massed Soviet tank assaults on the East Prussian garrison at the port of Memel and a large-scale Red army attack across the Narew river in northern Poland on the lower side of East Prussia.

While the Riga battle was in progress, the Germans attempted an amphibious strike from the sea at Palanga, on the Baltic coast in western Lithuania 14 miles above Memel, but the Russian communiqué said Red army planes and artillerymen sank four of 24 barges in which the enemy approached. The communiqué said hundreds of Germans were killed or drowned.

FAR EAST POLICY WILL BE DEBATED BY YOUNG, GOETTE

Veteran Newspaperman To Open Third Town Hall Season Monday

One of the most popular Town Hall speakers, James R. Young, who opened the series of Salem entertainments two years ago, returns for the opening of the third season at 8 p. m. Monday in the High school auditorium to enter into debate with John Goette on the Far Eastern policy.

The "real power" Dewey will be called to face, Wallace declared, "consists of big capitalists, monopolists, and cartel builders. The national Republican party is the party of the Pews and Grundys of Pennsylvania, the Ganerets and Ham Fishes of New York, the Hearst-Patterson-McCormick newspaper axis, the Tafts, Girdlers, and Hannas of Ohio."

Explains Industrial Action

The vice president departed from his prepared text to declare it was necessary "to take industry by the scruff of the neck" to place it in the war effort. "Of course, when they were thrown in, they really did swim—with excellent cooperation of labor," he added.

"No red blooded American," Willis declared in Columbus, "can tolerate a combination like the Hillman-Browder-Roosevelt machine; and no man is fit to be president who clears anything with anybody except Congress and the American people. No man should be considered for vice president who is not fit to be president of the United States."

The nation, the Kentucky governor continued, "is engaged in a war on the home front on the wrong philosophy of government. We know that 16 years is too long for any one man to be president, and that 3,113,000 federal office holders are too many for the thrift and enterprise of America to support."

The Democratic state executive committee announced that Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburg, 28-year-old secretary of the national committee, would tour Ohio, stopping in Akron Oct. 21, Steubenville and Bridgeport Oct. 23, Canton and Mansfield Oct. 24, Sandusky and Lorain Oct. 25, Canton and Wadsworth Oct. 26, Chillicothe and Portsmouth Oct. 27, and Cincinnati Oct. 28.

Republican headquarters announced schedules next week for Mayor James G. Stewart of Cincinnati, candidate for governor, and U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, who is seeking reelection. Stewart spends Monday in Cleveland; Tuesday in Lorain county, with addresses in Oberlin, Elyria and Lorain; Wednesday in Summit county with a night talk at Barberton; Thursday at Salem, East Liverpool, Wellsville and Steubenville; Friday night at Cadiz; and Saturday at Uhrichsville, Dennison, and Bellaire.

OHIO ELECTION DRIVE TO HAVE WEEKEND LULL

Tempo Due to Rise Next Week; Wallace, Willis Speak Last Night

Ohio's campaign speakers relaxed for the weekend today, but promised to whip up the tempo again next week, the third before election day.

Two major speeches featured last night's schedule. Vice President Henry Wallace continued his Democratic campaigning at Cleveland, and Gov. Simeon Willis of Kentucky appeared before Wallace ended his Ohio tour with a declaration that Thomas E. Dewey would have to reckon with the "real power" of the Republican party if elected President.

The "real power" Dewey will be called to face, Wallace declared, "consists of big capitalists, monopolists, and cartel builders. The national Republican party is the party of the Pews and Grundys of Pennsylvania, the Ganerets and Ham Fishes of New York, the Hearst-Patterson-McCormick newspaper axis, the Tafts, Girdlers, and Hannas of Ohio."

Charles D. Hurrey

SALEM WAR FUND WORKERS TO HEAR TALK BY HURREY

Campaign for $43,970 Will Open At Meeting Next Tuesday Evening

When captains and team workers assemble in the Memorial building at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday to organize for the 1944 Community War fund campaign, they will be addressed by Charles D. Hurrey, secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., who is being sent over by the speakers bureau of the National War fund.

Goal of the campaign this year is $43,970, divided as follows: National War fund quota, $20,300; Salem Community Chest, $23,670.

Ten days have been allotted for the drive, but Chairman F. W. McKee and his assistant, E. M. Stephenson, are hopeful that the goal may be reached within a week. These two leaders will outline the organization plans Tuesday night and the workers will be in the field Wednesday morning.

War Prisoners Aid Topic

Hurrey, who will speak particularly about the War Prisoners aid, a participating agency in the National War fund, is a graduate of Michigan university, with post-graduate study in Europe and South America. He has devoted 35 years to the service of young men, working with men of all races and creeds. He served with the "Y" in the Italian army during World war I.

As director of friendly relations among foreign students, he has made 11 trips to Europe and three to the Orient, visiting more than 50 countries. During the last four years he has lectured on an American affairs for Rotary International.

Hurrey will speak at the Rotary club meeting at noon in the Memorial building and at 3 will address an assembly of Salem High school.

BOMB ATTACKS ON FORMOSA HURTING JAPS

Heavy Raids Cut Reinforcements To Philippine Garrison

(By Associated Press)
U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 14.—Japan's army of 150,000 in the Philippines, sorely harassed by guerrillas even before the American invasion, was believed cut off from its main source of reinforcement at bomb-ravaged Formosa which B-29s blasted today after two days of carrier plane attacks.

Vern Hargland, Associated Press war correspondent, said that view was taken here of official reports showing upwards of 1,000 U. S. carrier aircraft sank or damaged 63 ships, wiped out 396 planes and ripped Formosa's railway system in giant raids Wednesday and Thursday within 100 miles of the China coast.

Tokyo radio, while telling Japan of the raids, claimed six carriers and four warships were sunk but Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said last night the Japanese air force failed even to damage the fleet units in their Wednesday night torpedo and bombing attack.

Pearl Harbor correspondents were permitted to speculate that the marauding carrier forces, which in four days accounted for 140 ships, 87 smaller craft and from 525 to 530 planes at Formosa, the Ryukus and the Philippines, still may be in action against Japan's inner defense area.

The newly announced raid of Superfortresses on Formosa substantiated Tokyo's expressed fears that the base was in for attack by land and sea.

The Philippines, by many signs appeared wide open for invasion. Now a Japanese plane took to the skies from Manila's many airfields Tuesday to oppose carrier planes which crashed 15 to 15 grounded enemy aircraft on Luzon, the Navy disclosed last night.

Enemy Fights Stubbornly In Close Combat

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 14.—U. S. troops rooting out Germans with fire and explosives pressed deeper into medieval Aachen today in a house-to-house battle against strengthening resistance, and guns and planes again thwarted Nazi attempts to reinforce the besieged garrison.

The Aachen escape gap now was "as good as closed," an officer at the front said.

But some German reinforcements possibly had slipped into the burning city, and a front dispatch estimated 2,000 Germans were left there, fighting back more desperately now. In five days an American division has taken 1,000 prisoners.

Germans fought as bitterly in Holland, Canadians blockading the escape route for the enemy on Zuid Beveland and Walcheren islands in the northern Scheldt estuary were forced on the defensive.

To the east in Holland, British forces hacked out a gain of more than a mile southeast of Overloon in the sector above Aachen, but progress was slow.

Doughboys using flame-throwers, grenades and machineguns advanced slowly but steadily in Aachen. An attack on the northeast had narrowed the lane from the city. Field artillery and planes hit repeatedly at German reinforcements trying to move in from the east, and prevented any major counterattack to relieve Aachen.

Eighty-four German tanks had been knocked out in 48 hours through Friday.

Germans in Aachen had to be squeezed from pillboxes and dug from wells and cellars of ruined houses.

Four miles north of Aachen, tank-reinforced Germans threw in strong pressure, but several counter-attacks were dispersed by Allied planes and artillery. Doughboys in this sector between Aachen and Bardenberg moved forward slowly against stubborn defenses including mobile guns and tanks.

Southeast of Aachen, the Allied communiqué reported progress near Germert, 12 miles from Aachen and one mile southwest of Hurtgen town, to regain ground lost earlier to a strong enemy counter-assault.

In Holland the Germans brought up assault guns and tanks below Bergen in an apparent all-out attempt to rescue forces trapped on the Scheldt estuary islands.

Killed In Action

Pfc. Trimmer

Pfc. Stanton Trimmer, son of Mrs. Anna White, 877 Granite st., was killed in action in France on Sept. 15, according to word received from the War department early this week.

The 23-year-old Salem soldier, a former employee of the Salem China Co., was killed in France. He had been overseas since September, 1943. He entered the service Feb. 9, 1942.

A brother, Pvt. Earl Trimmer, yesterday was reported missing in action in France.

Republican Women Meet In Salem Next Tuesday

Republican precinct committeewomen of Salem and surrounding area will meet with their county chairman, Mrs. J. A. Martz of Wellsville, at dinner at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Lape hotel.

The meeting, called by Curtis H. Vaughn, president of the Salem Republican club, will develop plans for the campaign and organize the women for the work.

Invited to the meeting are committeewomen from Perry, Butler, Knox and Salem townships, and Leona and Washingtonville, as well as Salem city. Mrs. Elizabeth Lindard of Bellaire, state central committeewomen from the 18th district, and Atty. Jason H. Brookes of East Liverpool, county chairman, are expected to attend.

STEWART TO SPEAK IN CITY THURSDAY

James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, Republican candidate for governor, will arrive in Salem shortly before noon next Thursday and will speak at a luncheon meeting at 12 in the Memorial building.

Luncheon reservations, now being made at Republican headquarters on E. State st., will be limited to 160 and serving will start promptly at 12. It is planned to open the program at 1, and those without reservations will find chairs available at that time in order to hear the speaker.

Other state candidates are expected to accompany Stewart, who is coming here from Akron. President Curtis Vaughn of the Salem Republican club will preside and County Chairman Jason H. Brookes of East Liverpool will introduce the county candidates.

From Salem Stewart expects to make a brief appearance in Lisbon, attend a meeting at 3:30 p. m. in East Liverpool and speak at a dinner meeting that evening in Wellsville.

LEGIONNAIRES SET MEMBERSHIP QUOTAS

Membership quotas for posts in the county, to be filled by Armistice day, were announced at a meeting of Columbiana County Council last night at Salineville.

County Commander Jack Davis of East Palestine presided at the session which was followed by lunch. Eight members of Charles H. Carey post No. 56 of Salem attended, including Commander Lee Hollinger, Supt. of Schools Shields of Salineville, guest speaker, discussed education and the Legion's continuous support of educational policies and activities.

Legionnaires passed a resolution favoring the celebration of V-day in Europe as a day of prayer rather than a social holiday.

The Nov. 10 meeting will be held at East Palestine.

Lisbon Opens Fund Drive To Reach Quota of $6,250

LISBON, Oct. 14.—The Lisbon Community fund campaign got under way here this morning.

At a meeting last night in the city hall instructions and supplies were issued to the solicitors. The drive, which will end Oct. 25, will raise money for War fund, Salem hospitals, Boy Scouts and Lisbon Youth association. The quota is $6,250.

"She told me then that she was going to marry a soldier today," Mrs. Kubinski said. "But I can't remember the name of the soldier, I don't know him. She gave me his army sharpshooter medal to give to my daughter."

Killed On Wedding Day As Automobiles Crash

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Anna Marie Dombroski, 22, was killed today on her wedding day when two automobiles sideswiped at a near-by Independence village intersection. Three other persons were injured, two seriously.

Mrs. Josephine Kubinski with whom the victim lived until recently told a reporter that she met her sister at a tavern last night.

Plasma Ridge Story Significant of Need Of Blood Donations

Plasma ridge was just another hill with a number when the Marines landed at Cape Gloucester. But when they started toward the top, they ran smack into a carefully planned ambush.

Japanese machine gunners pinned them down. The wounded had to dig themselves into foxholes while 50-caliber slugs criss-crossed the air above. There was no getting the wounded down the hill, and many of them needed immediate treatment.

Gallant Navy medical corpsmen, serving with the Marine units, crawled up the hill under enemy fire, shielding the precious cargo with their bodies so it would get to the men who were dying just a few hundred yards away. That precious cargo was dried blood plasma, from the blood of volunteer donors back in the United States—halfway round the world from that South Pacific island.

Scores of Marines were saved by that plasma on Plasma ridge. One Navy doctor told a reporter later, "Every direction you looked in, someone was getting plasma in a foxhole." That hill went down in Marine Corps history. The men called it Plasma ridge, a never-to-be-forgotten tribute to the people whose blood provided that life-saving supply of blood plasma.

There will be hundreds of other Plasma ridges in this war. Civilian blood can save the life of a sailor on the high seas, a wounded land-gunner high in the air over Europe, a soldier whose life is ebbing away in the wilds of Burma.

A continuous supply of blood plasma and serum albumin is needed. The Red Cross blood donor center here must have 175 donors each day to fill the quota of 350 pints set for Monday and Tuesday.

Any healthy person between 18 and 60 can be a donor.

Telephone calls should be made at 4:00 until 9 tonight and any time until Monday morning at 4:49.

F. D. R. TURNS DOWN FORUM TALK OFFER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The White House announced today that President Roosevelt has declined an invitation to speak at the concluding session next Wednesday night of the New York Herald Tribune forum.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, his Republican opponent, will speak on the forum that evening on foreign policy, his topic being, "This Must Be the Last War."

White House Press Secretary Stephen Early referred reporters to Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan in New York when asked why the President turned down the invitation. The President usually has addressed the forum in former years.

"The President," Early said, "declined the invitation by telegram last night. He didn't say why, to my knowledge, and it was a very brief telegram. You can ask Chairman Hannegan why."

Early repeated what the President told reporters yesterday about future campaign plans—that the President is talking about other speeches beyond the one planned for Oct. 21 in New York but "nothing is ready for announcement."

STANTON H. NULL'S DEATH CONFIRMED

Salem Officer, Reported Missing Sept. 25, Now Listed As Killed

Liaison Officer Stanton Howard Null, 19, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Null, 177 W. Second st., was killed in action in France Sept. 25, according to a War department telegram received by the family this morning. The word followed by four days a department message listing soldier as missing in action in France.

Serving with the 376th infantry, 94th Mortar division, Officer Null had been overseas since August. He trained at Camp Hood, Tex., Florida university, Gainesville, Fla., and Camp McCain, Miss., before going to France. He entered the service July 19, 1943, while attending Mount Union college.

Born in Sebring, Jan. 19, 1925, he was a member of the Methodist church there. He attended Sebring and Salem public schools and graduated from Salem High where he played in the school band.

The infantryman had spent only one furlough at home since his induction more than a year ago. The War department message said a letter would follow with more details of his death.

Blueprints, Systems, Etc.

It has been pointed out that a formula, a blueprint or a system, is only the result of someone's successful experiment conducted without the benefit of formulas, blueprints and systems. The relationship between rules and regulations and the experience from which rules and regulations grow is often neglected. Almost certainly it will be neglected in most of the thinking about the proposed rules and regulations for averting war which were prepared recently at Dumbarton Oaks.

A generation ago another set of rules and regulations was prepared at Versailles. Before that, rules and regulations for keeping the peace had been prepared for hundreds of years at various places in Europe, always with the same result: That peace was not kept. Theory could not do the job in the showdown. There is no magic in systems.

There is magic only in a strong sense of purpose. To whatever extent the world may be closer to peace after this war than it was after the last war, the improvement will come from determination to keep war at a safe distance. Under every previous system for doing it, determination wilted somewhere along the line, until it was easier to drift into war than to do what was necessary to stem the tide in that direction. It was not isolation, or any of the horrendous charges being mouthed by worshippers of Ism that caused World War II, but the apathy and prevailing dim-wittedness of all of us who saw war coming and preferred to look the other way—hoping that if we ignored it, the monster would go away.

A Big Unknown

Japan's quick acknowledgement of a large-scale aerial attack on Formosa is tacit admission of the island's importance. No one knows what Admiral Nimitz is planning to do, but from what his forces already have done an outline of strategy may be obtained.

They have attacked points in the Ryukyu Islands stretching from Formosa to the Japanese Islands. They have attacked Formosa, itself, in force. This would be the logical prelude to further heavy operations depending on partial immobilization of military facilities on Formosa and in the Ryukyus.

That has been the consistent pattern of attack in the Pacific—to strike at the closest strong points before launching a frontal attack on the next objective. In this case, of course, the probable objective is the Philippines. By attacking points to the north, Admiral Nimitz may be preparing to weaken Japanese military resources in the Philippines preparatory to the ultimate invasion of that key territory. Formosa and the Ryukyus are incidental at this time to the Philippines, just as the Philippines, themselves, are incidental to the final assault on Japan.

In any such operation, there are many unknowns, but an operation that Japan describes in terms of a thousand planes, size tells its own story. Admiral Nimitz is gunning for more than another atoll this time.

Objection

It was inevitable that Wendell Wilkie's status in politics would cause conjecture about his conduct in the present campaign. At the time of his death, he had made no public declaration of his opinions.

There must be objection to the manner in which men who had no access to Mr. Wilkie's personal thoughts now are assuming to be able to tell the public what was on his mind. Even in politics—even in the frantic politics being played by the desperate men afraid of being dislodged from the seats of the mighty—there should be some things barred from the heavy-handedness of their tactics.

Wendell Wilkie is dead. He is out of politics. The politicians whose methods he never understood well enough to make himself completely understandable—to politicians—should stick to their fence-mending, and recognize that death is one thing they cannot pervert to partisan purposes.

The Answer Is No

This is a little thing, but one of the little things which are multiplied into huge public debts and public misgivings. It is a report that the U. S. maritime commission is not going to take over the French luxury liner Normandie for post-war operation. The navy already has announced it has no intention of proceeding further with plans for converting the liner into a transport, which seems to leave the whole matter up in the air.

The ship was bought by the government, renamed the Lafayette, and then, in an unexplained accident, caught fire and capsized when it was filled with water. The navy raised the liner at a cost of $4,500,000 and she was placed in drydock, where extensive repairs were made. However, work was suspended and the ship now is apparently to be a dead loss. On official second thought, the answer to all previous proposals for fitting her out is no. While no one knows how much money has been spent in the meantime, the sum runs into many millions—one of these little items which mean nothing to Washington but are beginning to hurt like the dickens wherever taxpayers do the productive work that supports the foibles and bad guesses of tax-spenders.

Folks who cash in their War Bonds now will be extra cash out in the years to come. Hang on to those you have—and buy more!

Being too backward keeps people from looking forward to anything.

The next big kick will be about the high cost of giving.

The coal shortage indicates we will shake well before using.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, October 15

SUNDAY'S horoscope, while fairly lively and interesting in the conventional vocations or avocations of the Sabbath day, is not encouraging for business or financial matters. Undercover or quiet treatment of any needful activities would succeed better than the open and above board. Mystical, spiritual, artistic studies or intrigues of any character should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may find that affairs managed with quiet tactics with stratagem or intrigue rather than direct or tangible methods should meet greater success. Unusual facilities, insight, intuitions may be relied upon to promote success and accomplishments rather than prosaic methods. There might be activity with groups, fraternities, or in diplomatic or political associations. Creative talents of high order may be cultivated.

A child born on this day may be intuitive, original, and work from its inner urge or promptings rather than the objective, which latter hold anxieties.

For Monday, October 16

Monday's astrological forecast is for the sudden descent of an event or surprising visitation upsetting all plans, ambitions and established objectives. Such astonishing occurrence may demand a radical rearrangement of the affairs, personal relations and future prospects, reaching far ahead, although the way may be beset with obstacles, postponements and limitations. But by exceptional skill, tact, originality and ingenuity, with aid from influential sources, there should be dramatic experiences and pleasant adventure, both in business and personal ties.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a thrilling and perhaps spectacular adventure, uprooting and transplanting with revolutionary effect on the future, its destiny and good fortune. Many readjustments and reorganized plans and objectives must be successfully met, against obstacles and delays. But ingenuity, innovation and efforts toward the unusual, may eventually attain success and personal joys—with welcome change, fresh contacts and dramatic experiences. Romance is in the air.

A child born on this day should have exceptional talents and ingenuity, and should have an adventurous, dramatic and progressive life.

Four Sons

By James Thrasher

To the German parents of four sons who died in battle, Hitler would give a medal and a discourse on the glory of dying for the fatherland. To the American parent who lost four soldier sons, the commandant of the Marine Corps has given back a fifth son, with an honorable discharge from the service.

This act of sympathy by the highest officer of one branch of the service is the perfect expression of the feeling which the whole country must have for Mr. and Mrs. Alben Borgstrom of Tremonton, Utah. It cannot bring back their four sons, or lessen their grief, but it can ease the anxiety they felt for the boy who remained in uniform.

And it can also assure them that they are living in a country which regards death in battle as the heavy necessity of war, not the highest glory of existence, which still considers a human life as something precious and dignified, and its expenditure a sacrifice rather than what Hitler has called "merely an episode."

We're glad to hear that a large company will start manufacturing electric alarm clocks for civilian use. Some folks still need waking up on the war effort.

It'll be a lot easier for newlyweds to feather their nests when prices are down.

It's wise to pick your friends—but not to pieces.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Cause of Acne and Its Treatment

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EVERY PART of the body and every age in life has its own peculiar kind of skin trouble. The face is most liable to be afflicted with eczema, the neck with psoriasis, the armpits with Tinea, the abdomen with scabies, the knees with psoriasis, the feet with ringworm—to give a few examples of the localizing disposition. And as for age distribution—the infant has impetigo, the adult psoriasis and the aged keratosis.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The disease special and peculiar to the period of youth and adolescence is acne, or pimples. And that fact must certainly be taken into account in any theory of the cause and treatment of this peculiar disorder. To put it differently, at the very period when the ductless gland system is maturing and rising to a lathe of activity of secretion, trying to adjust itself to sometimes producing too much of this and sometimes too little, the skin responds in this unsightly manner.

Of course, that it is a condition of adolescence is of fundamental importance in the understanding of the psychology and handling of these patients. In the springtime of life when a lover's iris should come upon the burnished dove, when the frog he would a wooing go, when the ego sprouts as the very cedars of Lebanon, this is the very accursed time when the face is covered with this red, blotchy, pimply breaking out that is repulsive even in the victim's own mirror, let alone to the only girl or boy, as the case may be, in the world. No wonder the poor kid is plunged into dark despair and have to be handled very gently and sympathetically.

Causes of Acne

In spite of the many and often conflicting explanations of the causation of acne there is a primary change in the skin in all cases according to an eminent dermatologist. That basic change is an increase in the horny cells at the opening of the grease glands of the skin.

This change it has been observed is identical with the changes that occur in the skin in Vitamin A deficiency. Since every aspect of the condition indicates some underlying disturbance of nutrition it may be that something like a difficulty in absorbing or utilizing Vitamin A is present.

On this theory a series of 100 cases of acne were treated by supplementing the diet with a daily addition of 100,000 units of Vitamin A. Following treatment for six months it is reported that 79 became free, or nearly free, of acne and only three patients were unimproved. There is some exacerbation of the condition at first with this treatment for a month or two in some of the patients, then the formation of new comedones, papules and pustules gradually recedes.

Treatment of Acne

General measures for the treatment of acne are always indicated. The diet should be regulated, but not to the point where it is inadequate. The general health should not suffer in trying to get rid of the unsightly eruption because in the course of time it will go away anyhow. Many of the patients are found to be drinking too much milk under the impression that it is wholesome. Milk, chocolate, peanut butter and nuts have a reputation for making the condition worse.

The care of the scalp is essential in the successful management of acne. This applies equally to the treatment of seborrheic dermatitis of the face. Most of the patients are beset with dandruff, accompanied by itching.

Washing the face twice or three times daily with a neutral soap which the patients have learned will not irritate their skins is indicated. Do not irritate the skin of the face by vigorous rubbing with a wash cloth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. N. B.:—Is there a positive test for undulant fever? What are the symptoms? Is there a cure for it?
Answer: The blood agglutination test is reliable. The symptoms are most usually no more than fever and fatigue. Recovery is the rule with good nursing care. There is no specific treatment.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Legionnaires Buy Farm

As Haven For Veterans

ARNOLD, Pa.—The local American Legion post has bought three farms, totaling 240 acres, near Tylersburg, as a haven for men discharged from the armed services.

The post spent more than $10,000 on the property, farming machinery and livestock for the novel rehabilitation project.

Any veteran may go to the farm for either a short visit or to remain as a paid member of the agricultural crew. While nearby forests and streams offer recreational fishing and hunting, the promoters believe routine farm work at the prevailing wage would give a livelihood and sense of self-sufficiency.

Postmaster George Simon, director of the post's farm program, said the facilities will be available to all World War II veterans who would benefit by them. He explained that the Legionnaires feel conditions will be similar to those after the last war and want a way "we can help carry the load" for those men returning incapacitated or unable to adjust themselves.

Don't Hand Hitler
The Smelling Salts

Although the finish fight between Allied might and Germany is indubitably nearing the final round, and despite the fact that Hitler's "supermen" are absorbing terrific punishment and becoming more than a bit groggy, they are still in there slugging it out.

It now looks as there will be a lot of desperate in-fighting before General Eisenhower's battling boys deliver the knock-out punch. If we on the home front, at this time, relax for a single moment, our aid-the-war efforts we will simply be handing the smelling salts to the enemy.

We must avoid doing anything that can stimulate or revive the weakening foe. So, let us keep right on buying war bonds and observing all wartime rules and regulations, thus hastening the day when atrocious, rabbit-punch Adolf and his gang of below-the-belt hitters will either have to throw in the sponge or take it on the button for the ten count.

Ruth Scott Married To Walter E. Smith

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Scott of 5 Lundy ave., announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Ida Scott, to Walter Edward Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith of New Albany.

The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. G. D. Keister, pastor of Trinity English Lutheran church, at the home of the bride's parents at 6 p. m. Thursday. Pink and yellow chrysanthemums formed the setting for the ceremony.

The bride wore a poudre blue crepe dress and carried a bouquet of yellow pompons. She wore a spray of flowers in her hair.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. William Brobender of Genoa, Ill., sister and brother-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. Elvert Scott of Harmony, Pa., sister-in-law of the bride, and James P. Smith of New Albany, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the bride's home for 30 relatives and friends. A three-tier wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, served as a centerpiece for the beautifully arranged table.

The bride will make her home in Genoa, Ill., with Mr. and Mrs. William Brobender, while her husband attends the Coyne Electrical school in Chicago.

Ohio Paralysis Cases Are Increased To 983

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14.—The State Health department reported 19 new cases of infantile paralysis today which boosted the total for the year to 983, compared with only 149 for a similar period last year.

Hamilton and Montgomery counties were hardest hit with five new cases each, Lucas was next with three, and Ashtabula, Cuyahoga, Franklin, Fulton, Mahoning and Stark had one each.

Worst year in the state's history was 1927 with 1,350 cases, but Health Director James A. Bauman said today he did not think 1944 would approximate that total.

YOU GOTTA THINK QUICK

By Stanley Paley

Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

THE telephone rang while I was in the bathtub reading the Herald Tribune. I heard Mrs. Watkins shuffle along the hallway and pick up the receiver. After a moment she thumped on the bathroom door. "It's for you, Mr. Kabateck," she said.

I'd been waiting for that bathroom for the past 45 minutes. First Miss Salomon had used it, then Mr. McNeil, and finally Dr. Ganz. It was always the same routine: Salomon, McNeil, Ganz, Ruskin and myself, but this morning I'd beaten Ruskin to it. He knocked on the door a couple of times and I'd told him I'd be out right away. "Get that number, Mrs. Watkins," I said. "I'll call back later."

She grunted something and shuffled down the hallway. I turned the pages of the Tribune and kept on looking at the Help Wanted ads. There was a long list, ranging all the way from Advertising Man to Zoologist (Assistant to) with columns of Salomon in between. But there was nothing for me.

I was just feeling around in the bottom of the tub for the soap when Ruskin timidly knocked again. He first cleared his throat in that irritable way of his and then said, "I'm sorry to bother you like this, Mr. Kabateck, but I was wondering if you'd be out pretty soon. I've got an appointment at 10:30."

"Don't be sorry, Ruskin," I answered. "If you've got an appointment you've got an appointment. I'll be out in a jiffy."

This was a simple application of Dale Carnegie's formula. You bend over backwards to agree with people and they think you're a swell guy. Then you keep on doing just as you please.

About 10 minutes later the water became lukewarm and I realized I got out of the tub, pulled out the plug and walked over to the wash basin to clean my teeth. In three minutes I was all through.

When Mrs. Watkins came in from the kitchen with my bacon and eggs, she laid a little slip of paper on the table. "That was the gentleman that called. He didn't give his name but left this number. He wants you to call him back as soon as possible."

The number was Dawson 8-6649 and I wracked my brains for a moment, trying to figure out who it might be. The number didn't mean anything to me, so I went upstairs to get my little notebook which was lying on the dresser. The number wasn't in it. Somewhat intrigued, I went over to the pay phone near the entrance door. Then I remembered that I wasn't dressed yet.

"I wonder if you can loan me a nickel, Mrs. Watkins," I said, popping my head into the kitchen.

"I'm afraid I can't," she replied after a moment. "I've only got two quarters, a dime, and some pennies."

I wasn't asking her for an accounting; just for a nickel.

"Thank you, Mrs. Watkins," I said.

I didn't feel like going upstairs again. Besides my bacon and eggs were probably getting cold and I decided the call could wait.

I was back in my room, starting to get dressed, when I remembered the phone call. I took a nickel from the pocket of my coat which was hanging over the back of a chair, and went downstairs again to dial Dawson 8-6649. A girl's voice answered. It sounded familiar, but for the moment I couldn't place it.

"This is Kabateck," I said. "Leo Kabateck. I'm returning a call."

The girl started to say something when the phone was snatched away from her and Boggio got on the line.

"You must have broke a leg getting to that phone," he grunted, dispensing with preliminaries. "What the hell was all the delay about?"

The thing that always amazed me about Boggio was his habit of getting straight to the point. I hadn't seen him for the past six months and here he was already bawling me out.

"I was in the bathroom," I explained. "What's on your mind?"

There was plenty. The way he started unbending himself you'd have thought that I'd put a nickel in a juke box. I listened for a while and then shifted the receiver from one ear to the other.

"Look," I said, "you're forgetting this is a phone conversation. Maybe you'd better save the rest for later. I'll be right over. What's the address?"

"57 W. 72nd Street, Apartment 307," he said. "And make it snappy."

I went back to my room and picked out a good-looking business suit from the closet. It was a double-breasted blue cheviot for which Pasquale had soaked me plenty. Material like that never wears out. It wasn't quite so stylish any more for the lapels were too wide and it had only two buttons. But it still did something for me.

The chest of drawers yielded a broadcloth shirt which was practically new and had been saved for just such an occasion. All my other shirts were either soiled or badly frayed around the cuffs. My greatest problem was a tie. I've never learned how to fasten one without making it look as if I've been trying to hang myself. There were about two dozen of them hanging on a piece of twine fastened by two thumbtacks on the inside of my closet door. I inspected them carefully and finally picked out a polka dotted brown silk which had still retained some of its virginity.

After I'd slicked down my hair I put a crisp white handkerchief in my breast pocket, grabbed my hat, and hurried downstairs. There was no reason for keeping Virginia waiting 'too long in his present frame of mind.

When's the next time you'll be broke?

Hard to say, isn't it?

In fact, you haven't given it much thought. Things are going well now. The job pays fine, and it looks as if it will last forever.

But suppose it doesn't? Suppose, in the years after the war, you find things slowing up. What then?

Sure... maybe a good man can always get a job. But isn't it a great thing to have a nice soft cushion to fall back on if and when things don't go right?

And right now, if you're in the Payroll Plan and tucking money away regularly, week after week, you're fashioning the best kind of cushion you can possibly have, a big wad of money invested in War Bonds.

Here's why:

War Bonds are the safest investment in the world.

War Bonds give you $4 back ten years from now for every $3 you invest.

War Bonds are your stake in the good things of tomorrow—security, independence, travel, a decent old age.

And today, War Bonds give you a chance to put your money into the fight—the best reason of all!

Think that over. And when you get your check... chuck a good portion of it into Bonds... even though you're buying them already. Buy War Bonds—and hang onto them.

Widen Search For Slayer of Girl, 20

(By Associated Press)
HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14—Authorities pressed a widening search today for a man in army uniform, wanted for questioning in the slaying of Georgette Bauerdorf, 20, whose half-clad body was found Thursday in the overflowing bathtub of her apartment.

The hunt was instituted yesterday after a post mortem examination disclosed she had been raped and strangled, and a friend reported she had been "cut in" on repeatedly by a jiggerbug soldier at the Hollywood canteen the previous night.

The death was first viewed as probably an accident, but County Autopsy Surgeon Frank R. Webb reported yesterday that she had been attacked and then strangled by a piece of cloth jammed into her mouth.

Four received Distinguished Service medals for exceptionally meritorious service in a duty of great responsibility and 51 the Legion of Merit (one with a Navy Gold Star) for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services.

The Silver Star for gallantry in combat with the enemy was awarded to 327 of the division's soldiers. Thirty-nine have received the Soldier's medal, awarded to those who risk their lives to save another not in actual combat.

The Army's newest medal for ground troops, the Bronze Star for heroic or meritorious achievement or service in connection with military operations against the enemy, has been awarded to 1,352 men.

Sixteen members of the division, pilots who hovered over hostile territory in tiny combat planes to direct vital artillery fire, were awarded the Air medal.

Of the division's approximately 15,000 men, 2289 have been wounded, 62 of them twice and been decorated with the Purple Heart. Led by Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, first National Guard general to train his division and then lead it into successful combat, the 37th has been overseas more than 28 months.

18 Months From Civilization
They haven't seen any civilization for 18 months. They haven't been in a rest area since they first entered combat.

It was all jungle fighting, fighting against fierce Jap resistance, tough pillboxes, steep mountains, rain. In New Georgia, the division accounted for more than 2000 Japanese dead. On Bougainville more than 10,000 enemy bodies were counted on the battlefields. Thirty Japs were slain for every American who lost his life in that campaign.

White crosses in long rows on New Georgia and Bougainville honor the division's heroic dead. Many wounded have returned home; some were able to rejoin the division and fight again.

Back to the United States flows a small trickle of men returning under the Army's rotation policy. A few have spent a month at home and are back again.

Fundamentally, the 37th remains the same tested outfit of fighting men, anxious to come home but continuing their outstanding job of pushing back the Japs.

Q—What is the cost of a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter-bomber?
A—$45,600. Two and a half years ago it cost $68,750. The figures omit cost of government-furnished equipment, such as engines, guns, radio.

Q—What is the physical law on which jet propulsion is based?
A—Newton's law of motion, i. e., to every action there is an equal and opposite reaction. The rotary lawn sprinkler is a simple example.

Q—What does one long blast of a locomotive whistle mean?
A—It is a salute to a station being approached.

Q—Has any South American nation resorted to ceiling prices?
A—Brazil has fixed ceiling prices for more important commodities.

Q—Have we received any reverse lend-lease from Australia?
A—A fifth of Australia's war expenditure for the 1943-44 fiscal year were for lend-lease to America.

New Liquor Period Due
COLUMBUS, Oct. 14—The 16th Ohio liquor rationing period ended today, and the 17th—shortest yet since the system began—starts Monday.

The new period will last only three weeks due to heavily increased inventories. Liquor Director Don Fisher said this week. The current period was four weeks, the last one five weeks.

Only whisky—excluding three brands—and domestic gin now are rationed. The liquor department lifted restrictions last week from Pennbrook, Cedarbrook and Three Feathers reserve.

The Suez canal, 104 miles long, is 53 miles longer than the Panama canal.

Backbones of sharks are used as walking sticks.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

Germans it's a powerful defensive anchor in their Siegfried line. Undoubtedly Aachen remains one of the notable possibilities for a break-through to the Rhine and thence into the heart of Germany. The crossing of the Rhine, which may prove even a greater barrier than the Siegfried line, is likely to be a major problem and one over which speculation is futile pending developments.

We can say, however, that one of the great prizes for which Eisenhower presumably is headed is the big Rhensish city of Dusseldorf, which lies on the river about 24 miles north of Cologne, another goal. Dusseldorf is among the greatest industrial cities of Germany. It's also one of the principal transportation centers of the country, with trunk railways and highways running direct to Berlin.

• THE THEATER

The romantic team of Paulette Goddard and Sonny Tufts, starring combination of "So Proudly We Hail," heads the cast of the new comedy romance, "I Love A Soldier," the State theater's feature for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Barry Fitzgerald, Beulah Bondi, Ann Doran, Marie McDonald and Frank Albertson are in the supporting cast. The story concerns a girl war worker who tries to sidestep a war marriage until the tragedy of a friend teaches her new values.

"The Seventh Cross," showing at the State Wednesday through Saturday, the story of seven men who escape from a German prison camp where they have been sent because they refused to join the Nazis, stars Spencer Tracy as the one who makes good his fight for freedom. In the cast are Signe Hasso, the little Dutch nurse of "Dr. Wassell"; Hume Cronyn, Agnes Moorehead, Felix Bressart, Ray Collins, Paul Guilfoyle, George Zucco and Herbert Rudley.

The Grand's Sunday and Monday double bill includes: "A WAVE, A WAC and a MARINE," featuring Elyse Knox, Anne Gillis, Sally Eilers, Richard Lane, Marjorie Woodworth and Freddie Rick's orchestra, and a "Boston Blackie" adventure, "One Mysterious Night," with Chester Morris in the leading role.

At the Grand Tuesday and Wednesday is a return of "Manpower," starring Edward G. Robinson, Marlene Dietrich, George Raft, Alan Hale, Frank McHugh and Eve Arden.

Two pictures will be shown at the Grand Thursday through Saturday, "Death Valley Manhunt" and "She's a Soldier Too."

Club To Reorganize
LISBON, Oct. 14—Reorganization of the Republican Men's club will be effected at a meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the village hall. Officers of the former group, which has been inactive for several years, are now in the armed forces.

LEAVES FROM A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK

by Hal Boyle

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY, Oct. 6—(Delayed)—It seems to many frontline doughboys who have had to fight their way through the Siegfried line that too much is being made of the mediocrity of German troops captured in these static defenses.

It is true that Hitler is scraping the bottom of his manpower barrel and has thrown into the breach convalescent soldiers, middle-aged home guards and men who are partially deaf or have only one good eye, but as one infantryman remarked:

"It takes only one good eye to look along a rifle barrel and one finger to pull the trigger."

These second-rate troops have another advantage making them formidable to the first-rate American soldiers who are driving them back toward the Rhine. This is the protection afforded by their fixed positions—concrete and steel shelters many feet thick.

No matter how good a man you may be, you don't find it easy to rout another fellow who is firing at you from a snug pillbox to which rifle and machinegun fire are no more than goat bites.

There is still another side of the story: While Nazi "culls" guard fixed frontier posts and are captured when these surroundings are by-passed or surrounded, there is another type of German soldier rarely taken prisoner.

Rarely Nab 'Roving Backs'
These are the ace combat troops in mobile units which are used to backstop the crumbling German line just as in football roving backs try to block any breach through their forward defensive wall. These are the men who lead flaming counter-attacks that slow the American advances and cause the most casualties.

They are young, tough, strong and fanatically loyal. And they hit like sledgehammers.

They fight until they are killed or, if their situation is hopeless, retire in good order to reorganize for a later counter-attack. These are the troops that must be destroyed if Hitler and the German army are to be destroyed.

But the Nazis have had to butter these key reserves thinner along the expanding line. After five years, the German youth reservoir is running dry. Hitler no longer has enough young and experienced troops available to plug all the leaks in the vast wall around his failing Reich.

One military old timer I talked to estimated that many German troops defending Germany's western borders were convalescent soldiers and a large number formerly were industrial workers taken from
